Section 1. Jonathan Clement, H. F. Leavitt, Aldace Walker, Harvey D. Kitchel, M. H. Buckham, William H. Lord, Charles S. Smith, Alfred Stevens, Joseph Chandler, Joseph Torrey, Julius Converse, Franklin Fairbanks, John A. Page, L. L. Dutcher, James W. Hickok, and their associates, who shall be members of the General Convention of Congregational Ministers and Churches of Vermont,* and which members shall continue such associates for one year from the time of the adjournment of the Convention of which they are members, and till others become members in their stead, are hereby constituted a corporation and body politic by the name of the General Convention of Congregational Ministers and Churches of Vermont; and by that name may sue and be sued; may have a common seal; and shall have all the rights, powers and privileges of a corporation, for the purpose of receiving, taking care of and managing all funds, property and money which have heretofore, or may hereafter come to the care, control, management, custody or ownership of said Convention, or any trustee, officer, or person for said Convention, by whatever form or mode said funds, property or money may have been, or may hereafter be conveyed, given, transferred, bequeathed or devised to such Convention, or to the denomination of Christians called and known by the name of Congregationalists, or any branch thereof.

Section 2. The first meeting of said corporation shall be called by two or more of the persons named in the first section of this act, and which meeting shall be at the time and place of the next General Convention of Congregational Ministers and Churches of Vermont, a notice of which meeting shall be published at least three successive weeks in the Vermont Chronicle, published at Windsor, Vt.

Section 3. The officers of the Vermont Congregational Conference shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, one or more Auditors, and a board of twenty-one Directors. These officers, with the exception of the Directors, shall be elected annually, and hold their offices until others are elected or appointed.

Section 4. The President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Auditors shall respectively perform the duties usually performed by such officers in other corporations, and such as may be imposed upon them by this Act of Incorporation, and by the Constitution and By-Laws of this corporation.

The Secretary shall call the annual meeting, as matter of course, by publishing the call in two newspapers published in the state, unless the Constitution and By-Laws of this corporation shall prescribe a different method, in which case the meetings shall be called in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution and By-Laws; and he shall call other meetings under the direction of the Directors, and shall call a special meeting, when at least ten members shall in writing request a special meeting to be called.

The Treasurer, except where otherwise ordered by the Conference, shall receive all moneys, funds, property and assets of every description belonging to, entrusted or in any way committed to the care or custody of the corporation, and be responsible for the same, and shall disburse, pay over, and deliver, as shall from time to time be ordered by the Executive Committee of the Directors, or a majority of them; he shall at least once a year make a full and true statement and report of the financial condition of the corporation, therein designating the kind or class of funds, and for what purpose donated, bequeathed, or held; he shall also exhibit all books, vouchers, or papers to the Executive Committee of the Directors, whenever requested by them, and shall furnish statements and copies when requested by them,

The Directors shall have the general oversight of the interests and prudential affairs of the corporation, shall see that all funds, moneys, and other property are faithfully preserved, taken care of, and administered as shall be most for the interest of the corporation, and in accordance with the wishes of testators and donors; they shall perform all acts and discharge all duties not assigned to any other officer by these Articles of Association, or by the Constitution and By-Laws made in pursuance thereof.

Section 5. At an annual meeting of the corporation, By-Laws may be established or altered; not inconsistent with this charter or the laws of this state.

Section 6. This act shall be under the control of any future Legislature, and shall take effect from its passage.

Approved November 21, 1872.

Adopted by the Convention, June 18, 1873.

CONSTITUTION

Article 1. The work of the Conference is to promote the harmony, fellowship, and efficiency of the Churches, and their co-operation in Christian work.

DOCTRINAL STANDARD

Article 2. The Conference receives as articles of faith the doctrines of Christianity as they are for substance stated in the Declaration of Faith of the Kansas City Council of 1913; these doctrines are understood by us to be those which from the beginning have been received by the Congregational Churches of New England.

COMPOSITION OF CONFERENCE

Article 3. Each Church is entitled to be represented in this Conference. Its representation shall be by pastor—who has been duly chosen as pastor by “definite act of the Church”—and one delegate.

Persons elected to any office or holding any appointment by this Conference shall be members thereof until such office or appointment shall expire; and officers and ordained missionaries of the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society.

Persons recommended by the Business Committee may be received as honorary members, and participate in all its deliberations, but may not vote.

OFFICERS

Article 4. Section 1. The officers of the Conference shall be a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, one or more Auditors of Accounts, and a Board of Directors. These officers, with the exception of the Board of Directors, shall be chosen annually and shall hold their respective offices from the final adjournment of the meeting.

Section 2. There shall also be appointed at each annual meeting two or more Boards of five each, to have the care of funds or any valuable interests intrusted to the Conference for the ensuing year, a Scribe and Assistant Scribe, to serve at and during the meeting at which they are appointed; and once in five years, commencing with 1875, there shall be appointed a Statistical Secretary of the Conference, and Reporters and Receivers of Assessments for the several Associations of Churches. The Registrars of Associations may be appointed to do the work of reporting and receiving.

Section 3. A. The corporate powers of the Conference shall be vested in the Board of Directors, who shall have and exercise the general control and management of its funds and affairs, except as provided in Section 2, and shall perform all acts necessary to promote the interest and enhance the welfare of the Conference, not inconsistent with special instructions of the Conference, the Articles of Incorporation, these By-Laws, and the Laws of the State.

B. The Board of Directors shall consist of twenty-one persons. One member shall be chosen from each Association except Essex. Three members shall be chosen at large. The following shall be members of the Board ex-officiis: The President of the Conference, the President of the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society, the President of the Woman's Home Missionary Union of Vermont, the President of the Vermont Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions. The Board of Directors shall annually elect its own Chairman.

C. At the first election under this Constitution the pastors and delegates present from each Association shall be asked to name two persons, one minister and one layman, from the Association for the Board of Directors, and one of these persons shall be reported to the Conference by the Nominating Committee as its nominee. For subsequent elections each Association shall be asked at a duly called meeting of the Association to name one person for any vacancy occurring in its representation in the Board of Directors. In case an Association shall not name one such person, the Nominating Committee shall provide a candidate for such an Association.

D. At the first election under this Constitution seven of the elected members of the Board of Directors from the Associations shall be chosen for one year, and seven for two years; thereafter seven members shall be chosen at each election for two years.

E. In reporting nominations from Associations for the Board of Directors, the Committee on Nominations shall name at least seven laymen the first year, and thereafter it shall arrange and the Secretary shall send to the Associations a schedule of such approximate alternation between ministers and laymen in the nominations for Directors from the Associations as shall result in at least one-half of the elected members from the Associations being laymen.

F. Members of the Board of Directors from the Associations who have served one whole term shall be eligible for re-election for one term and then for a period of one year shall be ineligible for re-election.

G. The members at large on the Board of Directors shall be elected annually and shall be eligible to three re-elections and then for a period of one year shall be ineligible to re-election.

H. The Board shall hold at least two regular meetings during the year, one in connection with the annual meeting of the Conference. Special meetings may be called as needed by the Chairman, and shall be called at the request of seven of the Directors. Nine of the members shall constitute a quorum.

I. There shall be an executive committee consisting of the Chairman (who shall be Chairman thereof) and four other members of the Board of Directors to be appointed by the Board. At least two of the Executive Committee shall be laymen. The Executive Committee shall possess, between meetings of the Board, the full power and authority of the Board of Directors; provided, however, it cannot annul or reverse any action taken by the Board. It shall keep a record of all its transactions, which shall be read at the next meeting of the Board. It shall meet at such times as it may find advisable.

J. The Board of Directors shall present a Budget of Estimated Income and Expenditure for the ensuing year at each Annual Meeting of the Conference.

K. The Board of Directors shall annually appoint, as largely as practicable from its own membership, such sub-committees as may be deemed necessary to perform the duties hitherto performed by the Standing Committees on Arrangements for Next Meeting, Benevolence, Religious Education, Civic Justice, Inter-Church Federation, the Advisory Committee, and the Committee on Missionary Education. The Board shall also arrange for other Standing Committees as required by vote of the Board or of the Conference.

THE SECRETARY

Article 5. The Secretary shall be nominated annually by the Directors and elected by the Conference, except in 1917, when he shall be nominated by the Nominating Committee. He shall be the executive representative of the Board of Directors among all the Churches, and shall serve ex-officio on all the Committees of the Board. He shall represent the Conference in all denominational and inter-denominational gatherings, unless representation is otherwise provided for. It shall be his duty to become broadly informed concerning every phase of work undertaken by the Conference. It shall be his special duty so to organize, direct, and co-ordinate all of the work of the Conference that each part may be given proper importance, and all of the work may be done with the greatest efficiency and economy of time and money. He shall visit and advise with pastorless Churches, and shall assist, when requested, with fraternal counsel, a pastor or Church. He shall keep the records of the Conference and Board of Directors and make full report of his administration to the Conference at its Annual Meeting.

He shall see that suitable notice of the time and place of meeting is given in two or more newspapers in the state, and also that the program prepared by the Committee on Arrangements is printed therein. He shall send, not later than two weeks before the meeting of the Conference, blank delegate's credentials to each Church in the state. Each year, soon after the adjournment of the Conference, he shall notify those appointed or elected to any position of the duties devolved upon them. He shall notify the Registrars of the Associations when nominations for their representatives on the Board of Directors are due. And he shall perform whatever other duties naturally pertain to his office.

He shall call the first meeting under this Constitution of the Board of Directors.

DUTIES OF STATISTICAL SECRETARY

Article 6. It shall be the duty of the Statistical Secretary at the end of each calendar year, to collect and arrange for publication statistical reports of the Churches; also to correspond with the Association Reporters, and, from the facts reported, to present to the Conference during its session a condensed account of the state and progress of religion in the Churches during the year ending May 15.

DUTIES OF REPORTERS AND RECEIVERS ..

Article 7. It shall be the duty of the Reporter and Receiver of each Association to collect the assessments due the state Conference from his Association, and forward the same to the Treasurer of the Conference.

TIME OF MEETING

Article 8. The Conference shall meet annually at 2 o'clock P. M., on the second or third Tuesday in May at the discretion of the Board of Directors.

BOSTON SEAMAN'S FRIEND SOCIETY

Article 9. The Boston Seaman's Friend Society shall be the agent of the Conference in its work of promoting the spiritual and temporal welfare of seamen, and shall make an annual report to Conference. The Conference shall annually nominate a person for membership on the Board of Managers of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.

VACANCIES

Article 10. If at any time, or from any cause, the office of Secretary, Statistical Secretary, or Director of the Conference, or of Reporter and Receiver of Assessments for the local Associations and Churches, shall become vacant, the Board of Directors shall appoint some person to fill the vacancy till the next annual meeting of the Conference, or until a new election is made, and any person so appointed shall be a legal officer of the Conference.

AMENDMENTS

Article 11. These articles may be amended at any Annual Meeting of the Conference, by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the persons enrolled at such Annual Session. Provided, however, such proposed amendment must be read at a business session of at least one day preceding such vote, together with notice of time and place of its consideration.

Adopted June 17, 1874, and amended in 1892, 1893, 1900, 1905, 1908, 1909, 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1917, and 1919.

THE DECLARATION OF FAITH OF THE KANSAS CITY COUNCIL

Adopted as the doctrinal standard of the Vermont Congregational Conference, May 20, 1914.

We believe in God the Father, infinite in wisdom, goodness, and love; and in Jesus Christ, His Son, our Lord and Savior, who for us and our salvation lived and died and rose again and liveth evermore; and in the Holy Spirit, who taketh of the things of Christ and revealeth them to us, renewing, comforting, and inspiring the souls of men. We are united in striving to know the will of God as taught in the Holy Scriptures, and in our purpose to walk in the ways of the Lord, made known or to be known to us. We hold it to be the mission of the Church of Christ to proclaim the gospel to all mankind, exalting the worship of the one true God, and laboring for the progress of knowledge, the promotion of justice, the reign of peace, and the realization of human brotherhood. Depending, as did our fathers, upon the continued guidance of the Holy Spirit to lead us into all truth, we work and pray for the transformation of the world into the kingdom of God; and we look with faith for the triumph of righteousness and the life everlasting.

RULES OF BUSINESS AND ORDER

1. To facilitate the preparing of the roll, members of the Conference are required to hand their certificates of membership to the Secretary, or to the minister of the parish, as soon as practicable after reaching the place of meeting. No person shall be enrolled without credentials, unless by the vote of the Conference. Any resident of Vermont, in good standing as a Congregational minister or layman, may be chosen to any office or committee, and when so chosen shall be a member of the Conference, until such office or appointment shall expire.

2. The annual meeting of the Conference shall be opened with a business session. The President, or in his absence, the Vice-President, shall take the chair, lead in prayer, call for the election of a Scribe and Assistant Scribe, when the docket of business prepared by the Secretary shall be read. In the absence of both President and Vice-President, the Secretary shall call the meeting to order, and shall call for the election of a President pro tempore, who shall be chosen by ballot, and shall preside till the President or Vice-President shall arrive, or till the close of the session.

3. After the business session of the Conference, the public exercises shall be as follows: The Conference Sermon, Communion Service, the Reports of the Board of Directors, the Secretary, Statistical Secretary, Addresses or Discussions, Addresses by representatives of such Benevolent Societies as the Committee on Arrangements shall provide, together with whatever further exercises, if any, may be deemed expedient. The order of the above exercises shall be left to the discretion of the Committee of Arrangements, it being understood that the anniversary of the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society shall be held on Wednesday.

4. The President, in connection with the Secretary, shall nominate at the opening session of the Conference a Business Committee, through which all business not provided for in the docket shall be brought before the Conference. The Conference shall elect a Standing Committee on Nominations, consisting of three members to be elected one every year to serve three years.

5. The meetings of the Conference each morning shall be opened with prayer, when the Scribe shall read the Minutes of the preceding day. The roll of members shall be read at the last business session of the Conference.

6. The President shall preserve order and decorum in the body, and when he takes part in any discussion shall leave the chair and address the Secretary.

7. No person shall speak more than twice upon any question, except by unanimous consent and after every other member who desires shall have spoken; and then the mover in the matter pending shall be permitted to speak in reply.

8. Every motion, except for adjournment, shall be reduced to writing, if the President or any two members desire it. No motion shall be acted on till seconded.

9. If any member in debating or otherwise shall transgress the rules of order or of propriety, the President shall, by his own authority, or at the request of any member, call him to order; and if a question shall arise concerning his being in order, it shall be decided without debate by an appeal to the body.

10. When two or more persons rise to speak at once, the President shall name the one who is first to speak.

11. No motion committed to writing shall be finally decided upon until it shall have had three several readings, if any member calls for it.

12. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone to a stated time, to commit, to amend, or to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are here arranged. On motion for adjournment, for laying on the table, for indefinite postponement, there shall be no debate.

13. If the report of a committee contains only matters of fact for information, or of argument for the consideration of the Conference, the question is: Shall the report be accepted? and that question, unless superseded by a motion to reject, to recommit, to postpone, or to lay on the table, shall be taken without debate. Such report, if accepted, is placed upon the files of the Conference, not entered upon the Minutes.

14. If a report is in, or terminates with, the form of a vote, resolution, or declaration, expressing the judgment or testimony of the Conference, the question shall then be taken on the adoption of the report. If adopted, the vote, resolution, or declaration is entered upon the Minutes.

15. On the report of a Treasurer of a Board of Trustees or Directors, or of a Committee or other agent empowered to act for the Conference, the question is: Shall the report be accepted and approved? which question may be divided if a division is called for.

16. All resolutions and other matters of business to come before the Conference shall first be referred to the appropriate committees. Matters not within the province of any other committee shall be referred to the Business Committee.

17. Members who may find it necessary to leave before the close of the meeting are expected to give notice of the fact to the President.

18. Whenever a vacancy shall occur, by death or otherwise, in the representation of this Conference at a session of the National Council, the delegation from Vermont, composed of the delegates from this Conference and from the several Associations, are hereby authorized to fill such vacancy by the election of any resident of Vermont who is eligible to a seat in the Council; such election to be certified by any member of the Vermont delegation chosen by them to act as Secretary.

19. Any minister who has been chosen as pastor of a federation of Churches, one of which is a Congregational Church, and who is in full standing in his own denomination, and has been duly appointed to represent the Church by definite act, shall be received as a member of the Conference with power to vote and participate in all its deliberations.

These by-laws and rules shall not be subject to alteration except by the consent of two-thirds of the members present at an Annual Meeting.

DUTIES OF NOMINATING COMMITTEE

This Committee is to nominate the officers provided for in the Act of Incorporation and in the Constitution, the delegates to corresponding bodies, the preacher for the next annual meeting and his substitute. This committee is to consist of three members, and hereafter one member shall be elected each year for the term of three years.

(Adopted, 1915, and amended by Constitutional provision regarding Standing Committees, 1917)

CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERIAL STANDING

In order to promote uniformity in Ministerial Standing as well as to indicate the qualifications that appear to be necessary from candidates for our ministry, the Vermont Conference of Congregational Churches adopts the following statement of principles and methods and recommends their adoption by Associations and Ordaining Councils.

A. Ordination.

Ordination is a prime requisite for full and regular standing in the Congregational ministry.

A candidate may be ordained to the full ministry of the Congregational Churches of Vermont where the following qualifications are found:

1. Spiritual and Moral.

The candidate should be recognized as of thorough consecration to his Lord, with definite religious experience and clear convictions. He should withal have a strong purpose to carry on the work of Christ as one called to the Christian ministry.

Not only should he be above reproach morally, but there should be evident in him a high moral purpose together with a keen and good moral judgment seasoned with discretion.

These qualities should be thoroughly and clearly recognized, since they are the indispensable and first requisites for ordination.

2. Native Fitness.

It is desirable also that there shall be real fitness for the work of the ministry in a native endowment and temperament of the candidate. He should be qualified as well by taste and desire as by training and discipline.

3. Intellectual and Technical.

A candidate for ordination should expect to present satisfactory evidence of a college and theological seminary training, i. e., the degree of A. B. or its equivalent and the degree of B. D. or its equivalent. Further he ought at least to be acquainted with the theory of the work of the ministry, the more experience which he has had with actual Christian work the better. It would be well to have ordination based on evidence of actual efficiency as shown in work during such a probationary period of licensure as has already been mentioned, as well as upon technical and theoretical training.

He should be required to know and be in hearty sympathy with the genius, ideals and history of the Congregational denomination and all its denominational agencies, together with its methods and polity. In a word he should be well informed about and in love with the Congregational way of engaging in the work of the Kingdom.

There are exceptional cases among candidates for ordination who have unusual qualifications for ministerial activities, but who lack the training of either seminary or college, or sometimes of both. It should be realized that such exceptions are rare and that the burden of proof that he is the worthy exception lies upon the candidate, but where it is clearly evident that it would be a mistake to withhold ordination, ordination may be granted to such persons when they have completed a course of preparation as full and as nearly duplicating the preparation gained in the regular channels as may be possible.

Such special preparation shall be under the direction of a Conference Committee on Religious Education and the Ministry, and it is advised that no candidate for ordination shall be considered by an Association who has not secured a certificate of approval from the Committee.

This special preparation may consist:

(1) Of a course of training outlined by the Conference Committee on Religious Education and the Ministry.

Or (2) A correspondence course in a Theological Seminary approved by the Conference Committee on Religious Education and the Ministry.

Or (3) A special course under the direction of a Theological Seminary.

A candidate for ordination without the degrees of A. B. and B. D. or their equivalents should not expect to be able to spend less time and do less work in preparation than those who have come through the regular channels of preparation and supervision. In the nature of the case he should anticipate harder and longer effort.

(The attention of candidates is called to the use of the General Theological Library, 53 Mt. Vernon St., Boston, where most of the reference books needed can be borrowed without cost.)

Upon evidence of satisfactory intellectual and technical training, or upon completion of such work under the above heads of (a), (b), (c), the Committee on Religious Education shall issue a certificate to the effect that the candidate is entitled to ordination. This will serve as a guide and a credential to the Association in the ordination of a candidate.

A candidate for ordination must be a member of a Congregational Church.

B. Maintenance of Ministerial Standing:

Ministerial credentials are vouched for by the local Associations of which the minister is a member.

A minister moving his residence from the limits of a local Association is expected to transfer his membership within two years or be in danger of losing his standing.

Local Associations are urged to vote the following additions to their by-laws:

First: All ministers who have permanently retired from the ministry to engage in business shall be dropped from the roll. This Association can no longer be responsible for, or vouch for, such persons.

Second: The ministerial membership of our Association shall consist: (1) of ministers in regular service over Churches connected with the Association; (2) superannuated or retired pastors; (3) missionaries on the home or foreign fields in active service or superannuated; (4) ministers who are temporarily residing within the limits of the Association; (5) secretaries of benevolent societies and professors engaged in educational work.

C. Relationship to the Churches.

Local Associations are urged to press upon their members and the Churches the importance of Installation, or at least, Recognition, of their ministers as duly set to serve them and to urge them to establish this relationship. This tends to safety, stability, dignity, unity and efficiency, while at the same time preserving our order in its high traditions.

Installation should be usually accomplished through the local Associations, rather than by special Council. No one should be installed or formally recognized as pastor of a Church who is not a member of the Congregational denomination. Nor should one be made a member of an Association who is not fully acquainted with Congregational ideals, history and polity and in hearty sympathy with the same, and a member of a Congregational Church.

Recognition, as well as Installation proceedings should require from the prospective minister a careful statement of his religious experience, theological beliefs and ideals, and from the Church an authoritative statement of its purpose in work and attitude towards the minister.

No permanent relationship between pastor and people should be assumed under any circumstances without such mutual understanding.

Either Installation, which is preferable, or Recognition services would be a desirable practice with our Churches and ministers in the state. This would make much for efficiency and dignity in the relationship between pastor and people, for the self respect and confidence of both, and be a great advantage in the estimation of the community.

A minister in another denomination may become Congregational by taking successively all of the following steps; and it is desirable that such ministers shall not be recommended as candidates for the pastorates in our churches until they have definitely indicated their intention of taking such steps:

First, by securing an honorable dismission from ecclesiastical relationship with other denominations; second, by becoming a member of a local Congregational Church; third, by uniting with a Congregational Association, to whom he must submit full proof of his ministerial standing.

Ordination in other denominations should be carefully inquired into and satisfactory evidence should be had that such ordination represents no less than an equivalent of Congregational ordination, before such a candidate should be installed or recognized as minister in charge of a Congregational Church, or received into membership in a local Association, which thereby assumes the responsibility and vouches for him that he is a minister in full, good and regular standing in the denomination.

(Adopted at Annual Meeting, 1919, having been recommended by its Committee on Religious Education and the Ministry at the Annual Meeting in 1918 and laid on the table for one year at their request.)

Procedure for the Licensing of Candidates for the Ministry

County Associations of Ministers shall act as examining committees before whom candidates for licensure may appear.

Candidates recommended by an Association of Ministers shall be presented to the County Association of Churches for approval, and the public act of licensure shall be performed by the latter body.

A candidate for licensure shall be required to present a statement setting forth:

- (a) His full name and address.
- (b) His age and present occupation.
- (c) The date and place of his first Church membership and of all succeeding Church memberships.
- (d) The name of his present pastor, and the names of his teachers, or of others who will vouch for his Christian character and ability to preach.
- (e) A statement of his experience in Christian work.
- (f) The grounds on which he is moved to prepare for the Christian Ministry.

A candidate for licensure shall be thoroughly examined in:

- (a) His Christian experience and call to the Ministry.
- (b) The nature and content of the books of the Bible.
- (c) The doctrines of the Christian Church.
- (d) Church History.
- (e) The ability to prepare and deliver sermons, including the rules of composition, rhetoric, and logic.
- (f) Church polity, including the history, doctrine, and usage of the Congregational Churches.
- (g) His knowledge of missionary organizations and work of the Christian Churches, and particularly of the Congregational Churches.

In case a candidate exhibits lack of thorough training in any of these subjects, his license may be withheld, or, if granted, its renewal may be conditioned upon his pursuing these subjects, or any of them, to the full satisfaction of the Association.

Note: Material set forth in the above report is largely taken from "The Law of Congregational Usage" by William E. Barton. (Adopted 1916.)

This Conference heartily endorses the Aims and Program of "The Inter-Church World Movement" as enunciated in the Boston meeting of March 21, 1919, and calls upon our ministers and churches to make themselves familiar with these plans, and take steps toward their efficient execution.

We reaffirm our unalterable hostility to the beverage liquor traffic and demand that the warfare against it be carried to a speedy and victorious conclusion. We heartily approve the action of Congress in passing and of President Wilson in signing the war emergency prohibition law to become effective July first. We protest against all efforts to repeal it or to make inoperative any of its provisions.

We rejoice in the ratification of the prohibitory constitutional amendment by our own Legislature and by such an overwhelming majority of the legislative bodies of the Nation. We confidently look forward to an era of vast economic, political and social progress resulting from its impartial enforcement. We urge upon our Congressional delegation the most earnest effort to secure the passage of appropriate legislation to give it full force and effect, and condemn all efforts to nullify it as disloyal to our form of government and subversive of our democratic institutions.

Upon recommendation by the Business Committee it was voted that the churches be urged to pay the expenses of pastors attending the Middlebury Convocation and the Secretary notify the churches to that effect.

Greetings were received from the New York Congregational Conference in session at Oswego. Voted that a reply be sent in the name of the President of our Conference.

The following resolution was presented by the Business Committee and was adopted:

We hereby place on record our grateful appreciation of the unstinted hospitality which we have enjoyed from the pastor and people of this Essex Junction Church which has entertained us during the Conference. They have fed us most bountifully, they have received us to their homes most cordially, they have provided every convenience and facility for the transaction of our business. We thank them for everything they have done for us, and wish for them abundant prosperity in all their labors of love.

Upon recommendation of the Business Committee, the following new article of the Constitution was adopted, it having been first presented Wednesday afternoon.

Article 9. The Boston Seaman's Friend Society shall be the agent of the Conference in the work of promoting the spiritual and temporal welfare of seamen, and shall make an annual report to the Conference. The Conference shall annually nominate a person for membership in the Board of Managers of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.

Believing that the principles embodied in the proposed League of Nations are in harmony with the principles of the Gospel of Christ and conducive, therefore, to the welfare of our Nation and the world, the Vermont Congregational Conference, assembled in annual session at Essex Junction, endorses the Covenant adopted by the Paris Peace Conference, April 28, 1919, and asks the representatives of Vermont in the Senate of the United States that they vote for its adoption as an essential portion of the treaty of peace.

The Secretary of the Conference is directed to transmit copies of this action to Senator Dillingham and Senator Page.

It was voted to adopt the following amendments to the Constitution which were presented to the Conference at yesterday's session:

First. Relating to time of the annual meeting. That Article 8 be amended to read as follows:

Article 8. The Conference shall meet annually at two o'clock p. m. on the second or third Tuesday of May at the discretion of the Board of Directors.

Second. Relating to nomination of Directors by Associations:

(1) That Article 4, Section 3, paragraph C, be amended by striking out in the second sentence the words "two persons, one a minister and one a layman" and substituting therefor "one person," and by striking out in the last sentence of said paragraph the words "two such persons" and substituting therefor, "one such person" so that the second and third sentences of said paragraph shall read:

REPORT OF STATISTICAL SECRETARY

This is the first meeting of the state body with the Essex Junction church, and, save for the eight meetings in Burlington, there has been but one before in Chittenden county. This was in 1824, when Charlotte entertained The General Convention of Congregational and Presbyterian Ministers in the State of Vermont, then a purely ministerial body.

The list of ministers deceased during the year who have been connected either by birth or service with Vermont contains the names of men widely known and held in deep affection in the state. Two have been taken from the active pastorate—Francis Parker, nine years in Vermont pastorates and six with his last church, and Isaac Adams Rose, stricken with the prevailing epidemic after six years of fruitful work in three Vermont fields. Henry Fairbanks, but briefly connected with the local ministry, was closely associated with the larger work through the state during his many years of active life. Edward T. Fairbanks was 36 years in the active pastorate in Vermont, all but one in his native town. Joel F. Whitney followed a service in foreign mission fields with pastorates of 21 years in this state, and had been temporarily heard in many pulpits outside these pastorates. These all died in the state. Of those who had gone elsewhere, George P. Byington has the longest record in Vermont pastorates—31 years. Next comes S. Ingersoll Briant, 14 years pastor of one Vermont church. Andrew J. Eastman was 11 years in three Vermont fields. John G. Bailey had a Vermont pastorate of ten years in what seems to most the remote past. Frederick B. Kellogg was more recently nine years with a Vermont church. William T. Swinnerton was nine years in Vermont in his earlier ministry. Thomes MacBriar went into business life after a ministry of seven years, all in this state. George W. Wright and Idris Jones were each two years in Vermont pastorates. Samuel H. Lee was one year with a Vermont church in a former generation, and W. Stanley Post and Samuel Kay Darlington had very recent Vermont service of a year each. Andrew J. Park, Lyman B. Hall, Franklin D. Ayer, and Arthur S. Dascomb were natives of the state whose work was elsewhere, the last named dying in the military service of his country.

There is no change in the number of churches, 215 remaining the total. This has not been a time for new enterprises, and none of the situations which promised an early dissolution have yet so resulted. The final disappearance of a Congregational church is not easy to effect, at least in Vermont. We should understand, however, that of these 215 churches around a half dozen are really non-existent.

It is not, however, the dead or dormant churches which cause the difficulty in obtaining the annual reports. Of the seven churches unreported when returns were forwarded for the Year-Book, March 3, none were of this type, and the two finally incorrigible are supposed to be maintaining regular services. But are these churches Congregational or Independent?

While the number of Congregational ministers in service in the state is considerably smaller than ordinary, the list of churches without regular preaching is no larger than usual, probably even smaller. This is accounted for by the large number of combinations which have been made, placing an entire community under the care of one man. Of the pastors, 18 have been installed and one recognized by council. Three councils for installations have been held during the year, and one for dismission.

The annual statistics, which will appear in the Year-Book and the Minutes of this body, require a little time for expansion and interpretation. The membership on the first of January was found to be 23,238, which is nine more than a year before. This gain is small, but in view of the great depletion of the ministerial force of the state for war work and the cessation of all activities for four weeks in the fall as a measure of quarantine, which in some localities was extended much beyond this time, it is far from discouraging. The additions by confession were 708, fewer than for any of the four next preceding years, and by letter 460. The latter number is sensibly increased by the transfer of a large number of members in the formation of the East Corinth church. The number of deaths, 475, is the largest ever reported. So far as any cause can be found for this, it must lie in the mortality from the influenza epidemic. The removals by letter, 490, are relatively large, owing to the Corinth situation. 194 removals by discipline and revision are largely due to a cleaning up of rolls of membership. There has been a large increase in the number of absent members, so that the resident membership is 177 less than last year. The absentees have now become 29 per cent of the whole membership, which is far too large a ratio. While, as has been said, the total membership has been increased by but nine, the male membership has increased by 52. The proportion of men in the membership has made a steady increase in the last few years.

The additions by confession are to 114 churches, and those by letter to 102. To 77 churches there were no additions of either kind, and to 101 no additions by confession. These churches are not by any means all dormant or pastorless. The following received ten or more by confession: Rutland, 34; Vergennes, 32; Burlington First and Orwell, 30 each; Randolph, 23; Hardwick, 21; Brandon and Richmond, 19 each; Woodstock, 17; Newport, 16; Barre, 15; Northfield and Waterbury, 14 each; East Hardwick and Wallingford, 13 each; Chester and Middlebury, 12 each; Montpelier and Randolph Center, 11 each; Bellows Falls and Springfield, 10 each. It should be clearly understood that these figures refer to the calendar year 1918, and do not include the large additions of the past month.

The Sunday school membership is given at 18,415, including all departments. This is a loss of 1408. The membership of young people's societies is 3700, a loss of 559; and of organizations of men and boys 1708, a loss of 485. For these losses the war must be largely chargeable.

Coming to the columns of benevolence, we find a better showing. Gifts for the support of our denominational work, applicable on the apportionment, have a total of $36,266, an increase of $1322 over the previous year. This does not yet nearly equal the apportionment, but is moving toward it. The two other divisions of benevolence, "other Congregational" and "undenominational," convey information too inexact to be of value. Under both, many churches have made no return. The system adopted in the National Council office puts ciphers in such cases, when a blank would be more accurate. On the other hand, some clerks try to include Red Cross and other war gifts made by the people of the church but not through any of its organizations. These should clearly be struck out, but some have probably escaped the censor.

Home expenditures, which last year showed a decrease, have risen again, now being given at $242,173, an increase of $3846. As there has been little expended on building and repairs, this should represent a deserved increase in the stipend of ministers. Fifteen churches received legacies, to the value of $16,447. Invested funds, now given as $665,531, have increased $34,284, an increment considerably greater than that accounted for by reported legacies. Church property is valued at $2,471,500, an increase of $39,925, which must be due almost entirely to a more optimistic appraisal.

Expenditures for building and repairs have been small during the past year. The only new building erected by any of our churches has been the parsonage at Westminster West, to replace the loss by fire in 1917. At Barre, a house has been bought for a parsonage. At East Arlington, a parish house given by outside friends was formally dedicated June 12. Repairs of some extent on church property are noted at West Charleston, Danville, and Thetford.

Fewer bequests to the churches than usual have been noted. Hardwick receives a legacy of $600, and the daughter of the donor has given a memorial window in her honor. Bethel is to receive a legacy, the income of which is to be used for the upkeep of the church building and grounds.

A debt at Londonderry has been paid through the generosity of an individual. An old debt at Barre has been paid. At Wilmington, the parsonage has been sold and a debt paid with the proceeds, a house being rented for the minister.

But few important anniversaries have fallen within the year. The centennial of the Westfield church was observed June 14, and there has been a celebration at North Bennington of the fiftieth anniversary of the church.

The movement of great promise, aiming to strengthen the religious forces of a community by a consolidation which shall place the leadership in the hands of one man, who shall have an adequate pecuniary support and not be hampered by sectarian bickerings and rivalries, has made notable progress during the year. Sometimes this has been effected by a federation of churches on equal terms, sometimes by a withdrawal of one denomination to give the whole field to the other. Certain three-fold unions where the contracting parties are of the Baptist, Methodist, and Congregational orders are especially to be noted. These are at West Rutland, Putney, Westford, and Hinesburg. At Stowe, the threefold union into which our church has entered is with the Methodists and Unitarians. At other places we have come to an agreement with either Methodist or Baptist officials. During the absence in war work of our pastors at Woodstock and Northfield, temporary combinations have been made, in the former case with the Christian and in the latter with the Universalist church. The present reporter notes a change in the viewpoint of our church people in that combinations are made readily today with churches of certain denominations with which fusion would have been held impossible when he began recording the annals of the churches. Of the fundamental soundness of this ideal of a single community church there can be no doubt among rational Christians whose minds are open to the light. But it must be remembered that in individual cases these unions are tentative, and are not certain to cause a real unity of the religious forces of the community. If there is not a genuine harmony of purpose, the outward union will effect little. This comment is suggested by the fact that one Association reporter speaks of two churches as "discouraged" which have become formally federated, and a similar note of discouragement appears in the statistical reports received in January from the clerks of certain other united churches. The letter without the spirit is vain.

A few unclassified items may be grouped here. The legislature which held its sessions through the winter contained two Congregational pastors in its membership, one in each branch. Hartford has a Discussion Club, meeting in the auditorium at the close of the Sunday morning service. At East Barre, a community sing was held on the church lawn Sunday evenings for two months in summer, followed by a Christian Endeavor service out of doors. Windsor and Hartland have been using moving pictures Sunday evenings to get the people together for a gospel message, and the experiment has proved successful. From South Woodbury comes the unusual word that the mid-week meeting is better attended than the Sunday service. The small number of these miscellaneous items and the brevity of other portions of this report are largely due to the failure of about half of the Association reporters to respond to requests for information.

The outstanding events of the year have been those affecting the churches in mass rather than those concerning individuals. The first was the annual convocation of pastors, held for the second time at Middlebury in September, well attended and a time of intellectual and spiritual uplift. It fostered the Every Member Drive for funds for local needs and benevolence, which was to have been undertaken by each church on a definite day, December 8. The epidemic of influenza hindered this in some cases, and the lack of pastoral leadership in others, but where it was thoroughly undertaken it proved almost everywhere effectual for its immediate purposes and valuable in awakening a larger allegiance to the work of the church, both within and without its membership.

The next item of team work was the holding of "retreats for evangelism" in January and February, at which three-fourths of the pastoral force of our churches were in attendance. The object was the fostering of a campaign for pastoral evangelism. The marked success of this campaign is evidenced by the large number of accessions to the churches at Easter and in May, a record not equaled for many years, and almost entirely the fruit of pastoral rather than professional evangelism. Among the churches sharing most largely in these additions are Randolph, East Braintree, Burlington First, Swanton, Peacham, Morrisville, Pittsford, Bellows Falls, Barre, East Barre, Bennington Second, West Brattleboro, Essex Junction, Quechee, St. Johnsbury Center, Johnson, Hyde Park, and Jeffersonville. A substantial gain in the membership of our churches for the next annual report is assured.

A further act of the convocation was the stressing of the importance of community work, and there has been an evident advance in this respect among the churches so situated as to be entitled to be considered community churches.

Another general movement, not, however, under direct Vermont management, has been the drive to raise our state quota for the Pilgrim Memorial Fund. This too has been meeting with excellent success.

In concluding, the watchman would review the encouraging features in the record for the past year and the signs of promise for the future. That the membership held its own during 1918 in spite of the many gaps in the ranks of the pastoral leaders and the stoppage of activity by the epidemic is in itself a noteworthy achievement, especially in view of the fact that in the country at large there has been a loss in membership. That the gifts of the churches for their missionary enterprises have increased in a year of unprecedented contributions for patriotic purposes is an evidence that the appetite for giving grows with its exercise and that the resources of our people are much larger than we have thought. The results of evangelistic effort in these last weeks have shown that a warm and living appeal still meets with ready response, and that great spiritual forces await development. The face of Vermont Congregationalism is turned toward the light.

ANNUAL MEETING

The 101st annual meeting of the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society was held at Essex Junction May 21, 1919, and was called to order by Pres. N. G. Williams at 10.00 a. m., in accordance with notices published in two successive issues of the Vermont Missionary on dates next preceding the meeting.

Prayer was offered by Rev. R. A. Beardslee of Springfield.

The President nominated the following Nominating Committee and they were duly elected: Arthur F. Stone, Rev. H. L. Ballou and Rev. C. C. Adams.

The Secretary, Rev. C. H. Merrill, presented the report of the Directors and it was accepted and approved.

The Assistant Treasurer, H. C. Newell, presented the report of the treasurer, together with the Auditor's Certificate and it was accepted and approved.

The following pastors gave addresses on "Purposes, Plans, Prospects": Rev. Charles O. Gill, Hartland; Rev. Mabel T. Winch, East Arlington; Rev. Leland C. Chase, East Braintree; Rev. William J. McNeil, West Newbury.

The Nominating Committee, A. F. Stone, chairman, presented its report, and it was accepted, electing the following persons to their respective offices: President, Dea. N. G. Williams; Vice-President, Rev. L. A. Edwards; Directors at Large, Rev. C. C. Adams, Burlington; Rev. E. P. Treat, Pittsford; Jonas H. Brooks, St. Johnsbury; Term expires in 1921, P. T. H. Pierson, Bennington; John E. Tinker, Danville; H. D. Howe, Burlington; Rev. F. W. Day, Swanton; March M. Wilson, Randolph; Rev. R. A. Hamilton, Orleans; Rev. Geo. E. Ladd, West Woodstock. To fill vacancies in term expiring 1920, Rev. A. V. Woodworth, West Brattleboro; H. G. Woodruff Montpelier.

Rev. C. C. Merrill spoke for the Board of Directors in the interest of procuring two Pastors-at-Large for the state, and the following motions were made by him and passed:

Voted, that the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society approve the recommendation of its Board of Directors that two Pastors-at-Large be employed to serve the churches of the state, especially in the smaller communities. It shall be the duty of these Pastors-at-Large, under the direction of the Board and the Secretaries, to spend practically their entire time in the field, visiting pastorless churches and helping them to secure and maintain competent ministerial leadership, and visiting churches with pastors and helping them to formulate and carry out plans for adequately meeting the situation in their communities. The name Pastors-at-Large is chosen in order to emphasize the fact that they are to be workers with and for the churches.

Voted, that the details of carrying out this plan be left to the Board of Directors, including the choice of the men to fill these positions, and the decision of the question as to whether one or two men shall immediately be put into the field, it being understood that adequate financial support must be in sight before any appointment is made.

Rev. C. H. Merrill for the Board of Directors presented the following change in the constitution: Article X. At the close, in place of "April 1," insert "January 1," that it may read, "The statistical year of the Society for Directors' Report and Treasurer's Report shall close January 1." On motion the change was made by a two-thirds vote.

Voted that when the Society adjourns it adjourn to the call of the President.

An address was given by the Associate Secretary, Rev. C. C. Merrill, on: "New Occasions Teach New Duties." Following this an address was made by Rev. S. W. Anthony, of St. Albans, on his experiences in France in War Work.

A closing prayer was offered by Rev. R. B. Simmons of Shoreham.

After notice that the Directors meet at 7 p. m., the Society adjourned.

Adjourned.

At a special call on Thursday morning, at the recommendation of the Board of Directors, the following change in the constitution was voted: Article X, in the fourth line before "third Tuesday" insert "second or," so that it may read that the annual meeting shall be held "on the Wednesday succeeding the second or third Tuesday in May."

CHARLES C. MERRILL, Associate Secretary

DIRECTORS' REPORT

IN MEMORIAM.

The death of Rev. Henry Fairbanks, for 30 years President of the Society and at his decease holding the position of Honorary President, removed one who for active interest both in his personal and official relation to Home Missionary work in the state has been equalled by few and surpassed by none in its entire history. Coming fresh from the Seminary he devoted his first years of service in the ministry to the Itinerant work inaugurated and financed by his family. Later, after a Professorship at Dartmouth College, on his return to the state, he took a prominent and most efficient part in the great revival under the auspices of the "Gospel Workers;" and following that he made at his own expense a religious survey of the state, which led to the employment of young women in the destitute regions. Unfailing in his attendance at all the anniversaries, ready with his counsel and liberal in his financial support, showing his broad range of sympathies and wide vision by an equal interest in the work of the American Board on which he served as Corporate Member, he demonstrated throughout his entire life that the welfare of the Church and the progress of the Kingdom of God were uppermost in all his thoughts and aims. As an example of how a man of means and of leisure could turn aside from that which so often attracts, and devote himself to higher aims and the loftiest ideals, his career is one that should long be held in memory.

One of the force of missionaries has also fallen by the way during the year. Rev. Francis Parker, who had served several of our larger churches earlier in his ministry, closed a long and faithful career in his chosen work by a successful service in one of our mission fields. Those who knew him well speak of him as well equipped at the outset, thoughtful and studious during his mature years, and reaching advanced years in a youthful spirit, giving no indication of having passed the "dead line." It was his privilege to hear the summons while in active service.

TWO FACTORS

which have vitally affected the work of the year have been the increasing absorption in war duties during the first seven months on the part of all the people in our communities and the state-wide prevalence of the influenza in the fall and winter. In noting any meagreness in the year's results these factors must be taken into account, for they have quite prevented anything like normal church life and growth in many or most places. At the same time, it cannot be doubted that they have laid the foundation for a deeper hold upon the realities of our faith, out of which will come a more vigorous church life in the period ahead of us. Especially must they have paved the way for that spirit of self-forgetting devotion to a mighty and eternal cause without which any ultimate conquest of the world by Christianity is but an idle dream.

FINANCIAL.

Following the precedent of the year before, the Board again adopted a budget for 1918-19 and the following statement shows how closely it was approximated and also how the receipts and expenditures of 1918-19 compared with those of 1917-18.

RECEIPTS.

	1918-19	Budget	1917-18
--	---------	--------	---------

From contributions from churches and individuals, including Woman's Home Missionary Union and net adjustment of re- ceipts with Congrega- tional Home Missionary Society	$5,502.04	$6,500	$5,046.12
---	------------	---------	------------

Interest, less trust fund
interest	2,892.87	3,200	3,217.41
Legacies		3,300	3,700.00
<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
Total	$8,394.91	$13,000	$11,963.61

The most notable fact in this statement is the well-nigh unprecedented lack of legacies. But through its "legacy reserve account" the Society is prepared for such an emergency as this and approximately $3,200 was taken from this account to meet the year's expenses. While failing to come up to the budget estimate, the contributions were $455.92 greater than last year. (The budget estimate called for $1,000 increase in contributions from the churches and for the sum of $500 from individuals. An expected effort to secure the latter by special solicitation was given up, when it was decided to go out for the Pastors-at-Large Fund.)

The amount received by the Congregational Home Missionary Society (for work outside Vermont) was:

	1918-19	1917-18
From churches and individuals (Less adjustment of percentage)	$2,067.63	$1,753.19
Woman's Home Missionary Union	1,518.66	1,372.40
Legacies*	1,397.64
<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
Total	$4,983.93	$3,125.59

Leaving out the amount received from legacies, here again there is an increase of $460.70, which with the increase noted above in contributions for home missionary work in Vermont makes a total increase for both State and National work from living donors, in 1918-19 over 1917-18, of $916.62, or 9.9 per cent in the total contributions of $9,088.33. This past year we have given to home missions fifty-four and one-half cents per resident member, of which thirty-three cents was for work in Vermont and twenty-one and a half cents for work outside. While, therefore, we must regret the loss from legacies we cannot help feeling that the gain in contributions from the living is more important. Nevertheless, fifty-four and a half cents per resident member is not a goal for contentment; it is simply a spring-board for a contribution that should really signalize the transcendent worth of this effort to Christianize the State and the Nation.

The number of churches contributing in 1918-19 was 157 or 73 per cent of the total number.

It happens that the decrease in the amount appropriated to church work is about $40 less than the amount estimated in last year's report to be saved through these unions or federations. The chief reason for not appropriating up to the amount estimated in the budget for church work was the inadequate supply of men. The increase in the officers' salaries was due to the fact that this year the Society has carried the whole of the regular salary of the Associate Secretary, whereas the year before $500 of it was paid out of the treasury of the Vermont Congregational Conference. The increase in the officers' expenses is partly accounted for by the fact that all the Associate Secretary's office expenses have this year been paid by the Society, whereas last year they were partly carried by the Conference. In addition there has been an increase in the amount paid for stenographic help and for postage. There has been a notable increase in the amount received for subscriptions to the Vermont Missionary ($360.18 the past year against $301.85 the year before), but this was more than offset by the increase in cost of paper. (A reduction of $6.00 per issue in this item is promised for the coming year.) The principal item in the increase of "other printing" is the cost of printing the twelve-page booklet setting forth the Society's work, entitled "Making the World Safe for Democracy. Some Foundation Work in the Green Mountain State." It was hoped that the amounts advanced for the Campaign for Evangelism, which made possible the State Retreat and several of the Association Retreats, would be paid back from offerings made at special meetings before or during Holy Week. This hope will scarcely be realized, although some offerings have been received since our fiscal year closed. The expenditure for the Every-Member Drive was obviously in behalf of all the Congregational Missionary Societies and was a part of the service which under the new State organization this Society renders the National Societies and for which it receives an increased percentage of the apportionment.

Had the budget estimate for legacy receipts been made good, all the current expenditures would have been met out of current receipts.

THE INVESTED FUNDS

of the Society, exclusive of funds held in trust for churches, and of Annuity Funds on which interest does not become available to the Society until the death of annuitants, now stand at $42,216.20, of which $10,500.00 is in the Permanent Fund and $31,716.20 in the General Fund (legacy reserve account.) This is an increase of $100.00 in the Permanent Fund and a decrease in the General Fund of $2,397.64, the net decrease in the total invested funds belonging to the Society being $2,297.64.

The Annuity Funds (sometimes called "Conditional Gifts,") which do not revert to the Society's treasury until after the death of the donor and upon which the Society is paying him an annuity, amount to $4,500.00, an increase of $1,000.00. The attention of persons who wish their money safely invested, with a guaranteed rate of interest and with a reverson to the Society at death, is called to the advantages of this Annuity Fund plan.

The amount of funds which the Society holds in trust for the churches is $44,289.00, an increase for the year of $2,027.00. The rate of interest is five per cent. The Directors have instructed the Secretaries to investigate the funds of aided churches whose interest yield is less than five per cent, it being obvious that aided churches should take advantage of the Society's banking facilities unless they have better facilities themselves.

THE YEAR'S WORK.

Forty missionaries labored in 38 fields, giving twenty-three years, seven months and two weeks' service.

This is a decrease of four missionaries, five fields, and four years and nine months in service.

South Wallingford, after being on the Society's list for years, has boldly assumed self-support.

Six other fields were helped on the "Dollar for Dollar" plan, making the total number forty-four, or one-fifth of the churches of the State. This total is less by five than in 1917-18.

There were added on confession, forty-one; by letter, twenty-nine; total, seventy. The year before these figures were respectively, seventy-two, thirty-two, and one hundred and four. There were removed by letter, fifty-nine; by death, forty; by revision of roll and exclusion, eleven; total, one hundred and ten. The corresponding figures for the year before were sixty-nine, twenty-one, six, and ninety-six. The net loss of the year was forty, while for the year before there was a gain of eight.

These decreases are not discouraging when the factors mentioned in a preceding paragraph are taken into account and when it is remembered that there was a less number of aided fields. There is every prospect that there will be a fine gain in additions by confession and letter during the present year. Already one church has received twenty-nine by confession, within 12 of the total number received by all the churches by confession last year.

That interesting and vital work has been done in our churches is suggested by the following notes from reports:

Alburgh: "During the past fiscal year the work in Alburgh has been very encouraging. The congregations are larger than they were, and a pleasing feature is the increased number of men present in the church services. A Sunday-School contest has increased our Sunday School membership."

East Arlington: "Special meetings through Lent. Participation in the Evangelistic campaign. Red and Blue contest in the Sunday-School seeking to gain in membership."

Things are brightening up just now. Two hundred and twenty dollars subscribed for Pilgrim Memorial Fund."

East Barre: "For two months in the summer we held on our church lawn 'Community Sings,' which were well attended and really enjoyed."

East Braintree and West Brookfield: "The full Missionary apportionment was met of $87, and the pastor's salary raised $100. We expect fifteen additions at next Easter. [The number actually received was 32, mostly middle-aged people.] "

East Calais: "Interest in the services of the church is increasing happily in the East village and the immediate neighborhood. A few come between three and four miles to the meetings."

East Fairfield: "Our Literary and Musical Club for discussions and general improvement has had interesting sessions lately and a large attendance. It includes some Catholics and Episcopalians as well as our own people."

Fair Haven, Welsh: "There's an increased attendance in all services, which proves that the interest in Christ's work is not flagging."

Guilford: "The members of the church form a very faithful, loyal and devoted group. Among them there has been good interest, and the church is in good condition. There is an exceptionally fine group of young people of High School age."

Londonderry: "The interior of our church auditorium has been repaired, redecorated, and furnished with a new system of lighting, at an expense of about $175. Debts of about $800 have been paid, leaving the church free from incumbrances. Every department is better organized than it was a year ago and more promising of spiritual results. With a calm trust in God and the transforming power of the gospel; with kindness, patience and persistence, and the passion for souls that Christ had, the months ahead are sure to show results of progress."

North Pownal: "For the first time in its history the church contributed to all the missionary boards and met its apportionment. The addition on confession came from a pastor's class of Sunday school scholars held in January to March, 1918, and received in April. It contained all those of church age or near it."

South Wallingford: "This is a sort of valedictory message for the present, as this field assumed self-support on January 1st. The financial situation is very good and we shall be able, I think, to carry our own work and meet our missionary apportionment ($20) and a number of persons are giving regularly to the support of the work who have never done a great deal for it. The spiritual situation is hopeful. A Christian Endeavor Society meets Sunday night each week and carries on a very interesting and helpful service. The Society has helped materially with the young people problem."

Warren: "Better attendance at all services. Every Member Drive adopted, just now carried through. Missionary Committee organized and doing a splendid work. Church incorporated as the United Congregational church of Warren. Salary and incidentals, also Sunday School expenses, fully met. Several families are more interested in the work of God. Many things to encourage and cheer."

The following might perhaps be said of several fields:

"The people are very conservative and hard to change, nevertheless, habits, methods and ideas of thirty years' standing are giving way, and though we cannot keep step with the National Program, decided progress has been made during the past two years."

THE YEAR AHEAD.

Financially, we should have two goals: First, the making of still greater progress toward the raising of our full apportionment. The full apportionment would be twenty-seven per cent of $48,000, i. e. $12,960. Of this twenty-eight per cent or $3,629 would go for National Home Missions, according to our arrangement with the National Society. This would leave $9,331 for work in Vermont, an increase of $3,829 or nearly seventy per cent over the church contributions of last year, and would plainly enable us to push our work much more fruitfully. Second, the laying of plans for securing our endowment fund of $100,000, toward which there is in hand about $40,000. Toward this fund we ought to obtain legacies, annuity (or "conditional") gifts, and large contributions from living donors. The additional income of about $3,000 from such a fund would give a steadiness to receipts, to be sure, but even more would make possible the taking of long steps in advance.

In general, how could this additional income of about $6,500 be used? First, for the increase of salaries of the missionaries both as a measure of justice and so as to increase the probability of competent ministerial service. This increase to be secured mainly through the application of the "Dollar for Dollar" plan. There are now about twelve vacant fields fairly on the list of the Society. It is vain to expect competent men for these fields at the salaries formerly offered. Second, for the support of two Pastors-at-Large who will spend practically all their time among the churches, invigorating and counselling them when they are without pastors and lending a strong hand when they are with pastors. Two men of this kind would help vitally in solving the problem of the country church and would foster greatly the fellowship of churches and ministers. Without this frequent visiting by men who represent the whole body of our churches the requisite esprit de corps for our common task is impossible among churches and minsters. Third, for the special aiding of particular churches to become really equipped for solving the problems of their communities. The church in some instances must for a year or two be given such help that it can really become the center of community life. Fourth, for uniting with other denominations in a comprehensive plan to reach those portions of our State which no church is now even nominally covering. We cannot do this until we have helped each church to cover efficiently its present immediate field; but at the earliest possible moment we must take thought for the somewhat larger population of our State in "regions beyond" to which a vital Gospel must be carried in so really human a way that the enormous difficulties of getting a response to it will be overcome.

But the possession of this large income will by no means insure the success so greatly needed. Two fundamentals specially emphasized this past year must be carried forward with still greater emphasis. The campaign for Evangelism must be no mere spurt. The imperative need of invigorating and enlarging our church membership must be more keenly realized and the conviction deepened that community life and individual life without Christ are poor indeed. And straight alongside this emphasis must be placed the movement for community service by the church as a whole and by each individual member. Christianity that is not applied is not Christianity. In simple, practical, definite ways that will appear when there is a will to find them, we must let our religion exert itself in the actual regeneration of our communities and of our State.

We shall hear a great deal during the coming year about the Inter-Church World Movement. It promises to aid mightily in bringing Christians of all denominations into working co-operation. It accords with what has been done in Vermont for the uniting of churches in small communities. No one knows how far it may bring us on the way to organic church union. Let us pray that it be characterized by the deepest spiritual power, that it may be indeed one of God's own tidal movements. For apart from Him, in State or Nation or World, no matter how careful and comprehensive our plans, or how well-geared our machinery, we can do absolutely nothing in this stupendous work now laid upon the disciples of Jesus.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Four meetings of the Directors and one of the Executive Committee have been held during the year. The Board numbers twenty-one. An average attendance of fourteen is evidence of the interest with which the work of the Conference is taken.

We regret to report that four members have resigned owing to absence or removal from the State,—Rev. S. W. Anthony, Rev. C. F. Echterbecker, Rev. S. F. Blomfield, and Rev. R. H. Clapp. The following have been elected to these vacancies: Rev. F. W. Day, Rev. F. G. Alger, Mr. H. G. Woodruff, and Rev. A. V. Woodworth.

TER-CENTENARY

The past year two features of the Ter-Centenary Campaign have been stressed: Our Missionary Apportionment in the Every Member Drive, December 8, and Evangelism. For the Every Member Drive the Directors were the State Committee, the Association Directors serving as Chairmen of their respective Association Committees. The arrangements for carrying on the Campaign of Evangelism were placed in the hands of the Committee on Evangelism and the Secretary.

MINISTRY

Scarcity—In view of the scarcity of Ministers the Directors recommended to the Churches the sharing of their Ministers to nearby Churches that are pastorless; and instructed the Secretary to give preference, in trying to secure pastors for vacant Churches, to Churches that are substantially alone in their communities.

Convocation—The Convocation at Middlebury has passed the experimental stage. Our ministry has found that these days of intensive training under experts give a splendid impetus for the year's work, and fresh light upon religious problems in a time of reconstruction. With this conviction the Directors have authorized the Secretary to arrange for a Convocation this year.

In this connection something should be said concerning the source of income for this particular object. Thus far the expense has been met through the generosity of one man. Now that the experimental stage has passed, it is felt that others should share in the privilege of maintaining a work which is so vital to the leadership of our Churches.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The following recommendations are made to the Conference:

1. That a contribution of 8 cents per member be asked from the Churches for the Conference year 1919-20, the basis to be upon the total membership instead of resident membership as in previous years.

2. Amendments to the Constitution:

(1) That Article 4, Section 3, paragraph C be amended by striking out in the second sentence the words "two persons, one a minister and one a layman" and substituting therefor "one person," and by striking out in the last sentence of said paragraph the words "two such persons" and substituting therefor, "one such person," so that the second and third sentences of said paragraph shall read:

"For subsequent elections each Association shall be asked at a duly called meeting of the Association to name one person for any vacancy occurring in its representation in the Board of Directors. In case an Association shall not name one such person the Nominating Committee shall provide a candidate for such an Association."

(2) That Article 4, Section 3, paragraph E of the Constitution be amended by striking out all in the paragraph after the word "thereafter" and substituting therefor the following:

"The Nominating Committee shall arrange and the Secretary shall send to the Association a schedule of such approximate alternation between Ministers and laymen in the nominations for Directors from the Associations as shall result in at least one-half of the elected members from the Associations being laymen," so that said paragraph shall read:

"In reporting nominations for Associations for the Board of Directors, it shall name at least seven laymen the first year, and thereafter the Nominating Committee shall arrange and the Secretary shall send to the Associations a schedule of such approximate alternation between Ministers and laymen in the nominations for Directors from the Associations as shall result in at least one-half of the elected members from the Associations being laymen."

(3) The Directors have requested the Chairman in this report to present a plan, including the necessary amendment to the Constitution, of having the annual meeting so arranged as to include a Sunday, thereby making possible a larger attendance on the part of the laymen and a greater emphasis upon the spiritual and fellowship side of our State work.

It is, therefore, proposed and recommended that the Conference shall meet on the third Friday of May, and that Article 8 of the Constitution be amended by striking out the word "Tuesday" and substituting therefor "Friday" so that the article shall read:

"The Conference shall meet annually on the third Friday of May, at 2 o'clock P. M."

3. The Chairman of the Board of Directors is also asked to incorporate in his report the following suggestion:

That our committee on Civic Justice and Community Service co-operate with similar committees from other State bodies of Churches in having a representative of the Churches at the State Capitol during the session of Legislature in order to give definite and effective expression with regard to legislation effecting the moral life of the State.

4. The Directors present the nomination of Rev. Charles C. Merrill, as Secretary of the Vermont Congregational Conference for the year 1919-20.

C. C. ADAMS, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON INTER-CHURCH FEDERATION

Inter-Church Federation is coming to its own in these days. It is with a feeling of great satisfaction that the committee is able to report a continuance of the excellent work accomplished last year under the leadership of the secretaries and superintendents of the Baptist, Methodist and Congregational churches of Vermont. Last year fifteen federations or unions were effected through the broad Christian statesmanship of these men and this year they have added the following list which makes a total of thirty changes in twenty-eight towns.

The federations or unions effected the past year, in which Congregational Churches were concerned, have been:

East Burke	Congregational-Methodist
Derby	Congregational-Baptist
Hubbardton	Congregational-Baptist
Milton	Congregational-Methodist
Putney	Methodist-Congregational-Baptist
Sheldon	Congregational-Methodist
Stockbridge Gaysville	Congregational-Methodist
Stowe	Congregational-Methodist-Church of Unity
Westford	Congregational-Baptist-Methodist
West Rutland	Congregational-Baptist-Methodist
Whiting	Congregational-Baptist

Supplementary to this list are plans for federation under consideration at Randolph Center and South Hero and Grand Isle.

In addition to these unions in which the Congregationalists of Vermont have been concerned, there are four which have been effected between the Baptists and Methodists, namely:—Mt. Holly, Reading-Felchville, Sheffield and Lincoln. At Hinesburg and Middletown Springs where there were federations last year between the Congregationalists and Methodists, this year it can be reported that the Baptists have also joined. At Essex Center where there was a federation between the Baptists and Congregationalists last year, the Methodists have now joined.

A pamphlet has been issued by the Conference of Denominational Superintendents and Secretaries which contains very interesting developments. From this report the committee quotes the following significant facts.

Since about May 1, 1917, the total number of communities where unions or federations have been effected is thirty in twenty-eight towns. The number of towns given over entirely to the care of one Protestant church by these changes is seventeen.

Number of Baptist Churches affected	15
Number of Congregational Churches affected	26
Number of Methodist Churches affected	22
Number of Universalist Churches affected	2
Total number of Churches affected	64
Number changes effected on "Federation" plan	9
Number changes effected on "Exchange Fields" plan	20
Number changes effected on "Immediate Total Withdrawal" plan	1
Number Baptist Ministers serving these united or federated Churches	8
Number Congregational Ministers serving these united or federated Churches	10
Number Methodist Ministers serving these united or federated Churches	12
Number full-time Ministers freed for service elsewhere, who would have been required to man these Churches if they had remained separate	21
Number Churches now receiving full-time service, when part-time service was received before	6
Salary increased in practically every case.

The committee cannot commend too highly these efforts of Secretary Merrill in conjunction with that of the secretaries of other denominations. They have not only recognized the value of more efficient organization but have presented to the Churches a more efficient program of service, having in mind the definite responsibility of the church to each community and the sense of stewardship in matters of religious education and faith. It is proposed to hold a series of Church Leaders' Councils during the fall of 1919 at which these principles can be discussed and their adoption furthered.

The committee recommends the heartiest endorsement of the Inter-Church World movement and commends the united effort of the executive officers of the several denominations, including the Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese and the Superintendent of the Universalist church by which legislation in the interest of dependent children was materially aided at the last session of the Vermont legislature.

FRAZER METZGER, Chairman.

C

THE COMMITTEE ON BENEVOLENCE AND MISSIONARY EDUCATION

While this committee has not as yet accomplished everything that it has mapped out, nevertheless the outlook is very encouraging.

During the fall, prior to the Every Member Drive in December, quite a little work was done with a view to making the Drive, as far as possible, a success.

The apportionments were sent out on October 16, 1918, to all Association Chairmen. The suggestion was made that on account of the Drive, December 8, they be sent to all Pastors and Church treasurers as early as possible, that they might be prepared for the canvass at the appointed time. The percentage to apply for 1919 were, in a few instances, changed and are as follows:

American Board	27 per cent
Women's Board	14 per cent
Congregational Home Missionary Society, (including Vermont Domestic Missionary Society)	27 per cent
American Missionary Association	13 per cent
Congregational Church Building Society	8 per cent
Congregational Education Society	6 per cent
Congregational S. S. Extension Society	3 per cent
Congregational Board of Ministerial Relief	2 per cent
Woman's Home Missionary Union	14 per cent

The above percentages conform to the so-called National Percentages with a few exceptions. For the most part where changes have been made it was with a view to furthering the work in our own State.

The committee this year abandoned its plan of last year, by which it was proposed to ask Churches to reach their full apportionment by successive steps of advance. Instead, we asked that the full amount apportioned be the goal.

That we are making progress in the right direction is indicated by the fact that in 1917 we raised about 73 per cent; in 1918 about 75 per cent.

On the basis of returns resulting from the Every Member Drive made last December, it looks favorable for nearly 85 per cent this year, which shows that we are warming up and expect to go "over the top" 100 per cent strong in 1920.

Respectfully submitted,

D

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

Referring to Article 5 of the Constitution of the Conference, relating to the Secretary, his duties as there set forth may thus be numbered and paragraphed:

1. Executive: "He shall be the executive representative of the Board of Directors among all the Churches."

2. Committee work: “ . . . and shall serve ex officio on all the Committees of the Board.”

3. Representation: “He shall represent the Conference in all denominational and inter-denomination gatherings, unless representation is otherwise provided for.”

4. A Repository of Information: “It shall be his duty to become broadly informed concerning every phase of work undertaken by the Conference.”

5. Organization, direction and coordination: “It shall be his special duty so to organize, direct and coordinate all the work of the Conference that each part may be given proper importance and all of the work may be done with the greatest efficiency and economy of time and money.”

6. Relative to pastorless Churches: “He shall visit and advise with pastorless Churches.”

7. Fraternal counsellor: “ . . . shall assist, when requested, with fraternal counsel, a pastor or Church.”

8. Clerical duties: Keep the records, make a report to the Conference, announce meeting of Conference and send credentials therefor, notify those who have been elected to office, notify Registrars when nominations for their representatives on the Board of Directors are due, “And he shall perform whatever other duties naturally pertain to his office.”

In this connection it may be well to recall the statement in the first article of the Constitution as to why the Conference, whose executive officer the Secretary is, exists: “The work of the Conference is to promote the harmony, fellowship, and efficiency of the Churches and their co-operation in Christian work.”

Perhaps the simplest way for me to make the report which the Constitution requires me to make is to indicate some of the ways in which I have tried to perform the several duties outlined above. Since I unwittingly violated the Constitution last year by reporting through the Directors rather than directly to the Conference, it may be fair to include the two years of my service in the statements that follow, which are intended to be illustrative rather than complete:

1. As the executive representative of the Directors among the Churches I have aimed to carry out the policy of the Board as formally declared. For example, in the large amount of time given to unions or federations of Churches, I have been acting in accordance with a very strong and definite declaration of the Directors. Again, when during the past fall and winter I have, in recommending pastors to Churches, given preference to those Churches which were in communities where practically the only Protestant service was rendered by our Church, I have acted in accordance with a definite instruction of the Board.
2. While I have given more time to some committees than others, I have tried to take a friendly interest in all, since these committees represent the different departments of our Conference work.
3. I have represented the Conference at the Mid-Winter Conference of National and State Officers at Chicago and also was the only Vermonter of any denomination at the New England Regional Conference of the Inter-Church World Movement, which ought to be the greatest inter-denominational movement North America has ever known.
4. "To become broadly informed" about every phase of work of the Conference is no easy task, but I hope I have made a beginning in these two years.
5. With regard to the organization, direction and coordination of the work of the Conference, it may perhaps be said that here, too, a beginning has been made. Perhaps the best illustration can be found in the meetings of the Board of Directors, where, in one meeting lasting through the afternoon and evening, it is possible to deal much more economically both in time and money with the questions that were formerly considered in a number of separate committee meetings or else were not considered at all.

6. As I get on in life, I find myself much more interested in doing work than in keeping a record of it. So I have no figures concerning the numbers of pastorless churches I have visited during these two years nor of the number of miles I have traveled nor of the number of separate beds I have slept in. By running over the list of Churches in the Minutes, I conclude that I have been of some help during this period to approximately 44 Churches in securing pastors. And while I have had the Minutes in hand, I have also discovered that in some fashion I have visited, at least once, about 170 (or 80 per cent) of the 216 Congregational Churches in the State, and many of them more than once.

7. I like the phrase "fraternal counsellor." It is a good Congregational term. It represents my ideal for my work, and I do not unwittingly depart from it. I should like to help the Churches do what at their best they really want to do. For example, when a Church called me in to help arrange its meetings for worship in the two Church buildings which were respectively nearest the two groups of people that composed its membership, I hope I aided them to do away with a custom of alternation which meant the disruption of its Sunday School and a lesser service to the two communities, and to inaugurate the plan of a meeting for worship in each building every Sunday, which has permitted greatly increased attendance and interest.

8. As to the clerical duties of a Secretary, it suffices to say that I have tried to perform these constitutionally.

During the past year I have three times made a round of the Associations: once at the regular Association meetings, again in connection with the Every Member Drive, and finally in connection with the Retreats for Evangelism. I believe most profoundly that we need to deepen the fellowship of our Churches and our Ministers not so much for the purpose of creating a "denominational consciousness" but for the very practical purpose of helping each Church and each Minister to do their work with greater vision, courage and fruitfulness. If I may in some degree act in deepening this fellowship, I shall be very grateful.

Some suggestions concerning the year ahead will be made in the address for which I am appointed in the program of the annual meeting of the Missionary Society.

CHARLES C. MERRILL, Secretary.

THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM

So far as Vermont is concerned two of the three objects proposed by the Tercentenary Committee of The National Council have been largely accomplished. Our Benevolences have been by the majority of our Churches put on the basis proposed and the quota assumed by us for The Pilgrim Fund has been secured in a wide area of the State. There remains the third and greatest object of our Tercentenary program, "The campaign for an increased membership." In this also a significant beginning has been made.

Your committee desire to survey the reports submitted by the Association leaders by the following standards of Church efficiency.

- (1) Discipleship is our paramount business.
- (2) Our Churches must be constantly recruited.
- (3) We should seek to possess our community for Christ.
- (4) Success will follow effort.
- (5) Religion is a business proposition.

These statements may be summed up by saying our Business is Discipleship. Pulpit oratory, religious teaching, pastoral visits, financing, devotional meetings, one and all fail of their objective unless by them we extend and promote Discipleship. Our temptation in the pulpit and in our Church agencies is to generalize. We must resolutely discipline ourselves and our work to objectives, to the gain of definite territory.

The Reports submitted by the Association leaders prove that Results follow effort. This law may fluctuate in Business and in Agriculture, but in our business it is an absolute law. Intelligent Religious effort produces Discipleship. In this law every one of us can find both inspiration and rebuke.

The Association leaders report as follows, and these reports were given in answer to three parts of our suggested method of membership campaign. (1) The Retreat. (2) The Fellowship work. (3) The Response of Pastor and Churches.

In submitting this Report to the Conference the Committee on Evangelism endorses the National Council's Program and the lines of work outlined by National Committee on Evangelism. They regret that the Report does not represent more adequately the work done throughout the State and hope that the Association and Churches may be in a position to send more complete details next year.

The Report proves that our membership increase depends only on the faithful work and the intelligent methods adopted by pastors and Churches.

The Committee earnestly urges in view of the immense and urgent need for Religious Revival:

1. Individual response by pastors in a quickened hunger for discipleship.
2. The demand for Church fellowship in aligning our Congregations. We must work through the visible body of Christ, through Sunday Schools, Young People's Societies, Women's Societies, Men's Clubs, through the homes, through the preaching of the Gospel, through personal persuasion.
3. We must invade our whole Community under the Commission of Discipleship seeking to bring all sorts of men to the Savior of all men.
4. We must work through and with our National fellowship on the lines adopted last year, by Retreats of National, State, and Association leaders reaching to the Church Committee on Evangelism, by Inter-Church visitations, by surveys and above all by a large enlistment of personal work for discipleship.

The need is great, the Divine Grace is sufficient, the task is glorious and the reward eternal.

DONALD FRASER, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND THE MINISTRY

At the annual meeting of our State Conference held at Lyndonville a year ago the Committee on Religious Education and the Ministry presented a statement regarding standards and requirements of candidates for the Congregational ministry in the State of Vermont. It was thought best after some discussion to defer action upon the report until the next annual session. In the meantime the subject matter of the report has been somewhat carefully considered and in amended form is respectfully submitted for action of conference with the exception of the matter referring to the licensure to preach which the committee desires to leave on the table for its further consideration.

(With the exception of what was recommended for licensure, which, as suggested above was laid on the table for a year and therefore is here printed, the recommendation of the committee regarding principles and methods for Congregational Ministerial Standing, which was adopted by the Conference, will be found on page 18 of these Minutes.)

Laid on table for one year for further discussion by the committee.

LICENSURE

Licensure to preach and to conduct such ministrations in a parish as come within our ecclesiastical usage may be granted to persons who are in active preparation for ordination. It is the custom of our order, moreover, that no unordained person shall undertake charge of a pulpit or parish who is not so licensed, and it is earnestly suggested to our several Associations that they urge upon the Churches by formal action that they, the Churches, shall not enlist the services of any unordained person who has not been so licensed, except that the Committee on Ministerial Standing of local Associations may grant permission to an unlicensed person to preach for a term not exceeding one month. Such a practice will both safeguard and be a means for promoting the best interests and work of all concerned.

The licensing body is the Association of Churches and Ministers and it shall perform the public act of licensure. The examining of candidates will usually be done by the Association Committee on Ministerial Standing or a specially appointed Committee.

A candidate for licensure shall be required to present a statement setting forth:

- (a) His full name and address.
- (b) His age and present occupation.
- (c) The date and place of his first Church membership and of all succeeding Church memberships.
- (d) The name of his present pastor, and the names of his teachers, or of others who will vouch for his Christian character and ability to preach.
- (e) A statement of his experience in Christian work.
- (f) The grounds on which he is moved to prepare for the Christian ministry.

A candidate for licensure shall be thoroughly examined in:

- (a) His Christian experience and call to the ministry.
- (b) The nature and content of the books of the Bible.
- (c) The doctrines of the Christian Church.
- (d) Church History.
- (e) The ability to prepare and deliver sermons, including the rules of composition, rhetoric, and logic.
- (f) Church polity, including the history, doctrine, and usage of the Congregational Churches.
- (g) His knowledge of missionary organizations and work of the Christian Churches, and particularly of the Congregational Churches.

In case a candidate exhibits lack of thorough training in any of these subjects, his license may be withheld, or, if granted, its renewal may be conditioned upon his pursuing these subjects, or any of them, to the full satisfaction of the Association.

A printed certificate of licensure, (to be provided by the State Secretary), shall be issued to all licentiates, and this certificate shall carry the right to administer baptism and the Lord's Supper, in case a fully ordained minister is not available for the service.

Licensure shall usually be granted in the expectation that full preparation for ordination will be carried forward actively by the licentiate. The period of preparation should be long enough to enable the candidate to master a course of study equivalent to that prescribed by a theological seminary, usually a three years' course.

License shall be renewed each year, as the candidate gives evidence of creditable progress in the course of study undertaken.

The Committee respectfully presents this statement of principles and methods in the hope that it may unify our practice in Vermont in regard to Ministerial Standing and so maintain the character, achievement and work of our ministry and our Churches at the very high level to which our ideals for efficiency in the Master's service calls us.

The Committee further reports that two visits have been made to our colleges for the purpose of presenting the claims of the ministry to the undergraduates. Rev. Fraser Metzger and Secretary C. C. Merrill represented the Committee at Dartmouth and at Middlebury the visit was made by Rev. George A. Buttrick and Secretary Merrill. A date in May has been fixed for a visit to the University of Vermont.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Recognizing the fundamental importance of religious education to the church and the kingdom of God we urge the pastors and churches to give more attention to this department of church activity.

Since one of the greatest needs in this field is for trained teachers and workers we call attention to the excellent Teacher Training Course published by the Pilgrim Press and urge that classes in Teacher Training be organized wherever possible. In some communities these might be inter-church classes.

For the first time we have a summer school for religious education located within the borders of our state. A session of the Northern New England School of Religious Education will be held at the University of Vermont from the fourth to the tenth of August. We commend this school to the churches and recommend that each church send one or more wisely chosen persons for this intensive training. This school should be for the Sunday School workers of Vermont what the Middlebury Convocation is to the pastors.

We deplore the loss of 1408 in Sunday School enrollment as reported by our churches this year and we recommend that the matter of religious education be given greater prominence on the association programs and at the Convocation at Middlebury.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON CIVIC JUSTICE AND COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Legislature of 1919 made a notable record for the Acts which it passed relating to Civic Justice and Community Service. Some of the most important were the result of the work of the Board of Charities and Probation. We refer to each of these Acts very briefly.

Act No. 91 amends the Juvenile Court law and permits all courts, Supreme, Municipal and Juvenile, to make suitable disposition of children in a case where a parent is found guilty of non-support or desertion.

Act No. 205 amends the General Laws, extending the authority and duty of the Board in respect to poor relief. Under the old law the Board inspected poor houses. Under the new law, it inspects poor houses and investigates the administration of poor relief and the conditions of the poor throughout the state. This gives general supervision and inspection of all the poor in Vermont.

Act No. 206 is perhaps the most important single measure affecting the department passed by the recent session. Under the law as it existed there was no provision for the care of a dependent child when committed to the Board. This Act provides that when a child is so committed, that the Board shall incur such expense for the proper care and maintenance of the child as it deems necessary, which shall be paid in equal amounts by the state and town in which the child is a resident.

It has long been the practice of the towns of the state to commit dependent children, children whose only necessity is food, clothing and shelter, to the State Industrial School at Vergennes. Act No. 207 prohibits courts committing a dependent child to the Vermont Industrial School at Vergennes except with the approval of the Board of Charities and Probation.

Act No. 208 is also a very important, constructive piece of legislation. Soon after the organizing of the Board of Charities and Probation, it was found that annually there were a large number of children who were dependent, delinquent or defective, both physically and mentally, being sent into the state. This Act prohibits receiving any such child in Vermont without first securing a certificate from this Board and giving sufficient guaranty, that such child has not a contagious or incurable disease, is not feeble-minded and will not become a public charge. This Act requires private institutions, associations or persons receiving or desiring to receive dependent children, to furnish the Board such information, reports and statements as the Board may deem necessary and authorizes the Board to inspect institutions, associations or homes at such times as it deems proper. This Act prohibits persons from receiving children under two years of age for board or care or engaging in the home placing of children until they have received a license from the Board, and the Board is given full authority to regulate the conduct of the business, to visit the premises and to request such reports as it deems necessary. A fine of not more than $500.00 is the penalty for disregarding this provision of the law.

In addition to the foregoing, the appropriation for the maintenance of the department was increased from $10,000.00 to $25,000.00 annually.

There were several Acts passed relating to Venereal Diseases. Act No. 176 relates to medical treatment of inmates of institutions afflicted with these diseases. Act No. 177 relates to prevention. Act No. 178 relates to treatment and publicity and Act No. 179 increases the penalties.

One of the most important Acts passed by the Legislature was No. 199, relating to Prostitution, making the penalty for violation of this law, a fine of not more than $100.00 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or for a second conviction, imprisonment for not more than three years. This law applies equally to men and women.

Act No. 60 provides that women over the age of twenty-one and not over the age of forty-five years, who may be considered proper subjects therefor, may, with the approval of the Governor, be committed to the State School for Feeble Minded Children. This law ought to materially decrease the number of feeble-minded children born in the State.

Act No. 90 gives the women of the State of Vermont all the property rights which men enjoy, thus putting women on a perfect equality with men as far as "property rights" are concerned—rights of which they have been deprived ever since Vermont became a State.

Act No. 57 relates to the Vermont Teachers' Retirement System; providing pensions on a very just and equitable basis.

Act No. 194 was passed for the purpose of preventing the Promotion of Anarchy.

House Bill No. 312 caused a great deal of excitement, but was indefinitely postponed without discussion. This bill provided for the operation of fruit stores, ice cream parlors and moving pictures on Sunday.

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

When the Conference reorganized its work two years ago at Brandon it made no provision for the extra expense that would be involved. Moreover, there was an indebtedness of some $600 on account of the "History of Vermont Congregationalism" whose publication the Conference had authorized.

One of the first tasks of the Board of Directors, therefore, was to secure the money whereby the organization and plan of work which had been effected could actually be carried out. The Board entrusted this task to the Ways and Means Committee and we now have the privilege of reporting that with the co-operation of the other members of the Board and of interested churches and individuals that have contributed, the task has now been completed.

The fund which we endeavored to raise was called the Emergency Fund and there have been received for this Fund the following sums:

By the Vermont Domestic Missionary Society, as reported by its treasurer for 1917-18

$281.40

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This should include all ordained Congregational ministers serving any of the churches in the state, and all others whose standing is with a Vermont Association. No others are included in this list, and no others will be reported for insertion in the alphabetical list of ministers in the Year-Book. Any errors should be reported to the Statistical Secretary.

Following this is a similar list of licentiates, and a list of ministers of other denominations supplying our churches.

These lists will not be found to agree with those in the tabular Statistics of the Churches, because the latter are printed from the plates of the Year-Book and have been corrected only to April 1, while the lists that follow have been brought up to the date of printing.
